

I have been giving these gorgeous dribble bibs, which are so super soft and come in lovely prints as newborn presents. My favourite has been the Liberty 'Toy Garden' dribble bib. Liberty dribble bib, £10, weaselandthewhale.etsy.com

August is such a nice time for me; it's very quiet at work and I love being able to spend serious quality time with the whole family. Our BBQ is in full swing and we're spending most of our days lying on a huge rug under the apple tree. This time last year, my little one was sleeping quietly in a Moses basket next to me and I just can't believe how quickly time is passing.

I am absolutely obsessed with the new Mini Rodini store in London. I have been buying this adorable parrot woven body – which is made from beautiful, organic cotton – for friends with newborns. Cotton body, £45, minirodini.com

WHERE TO GO

Last year, Baby Broadway gave away free children's tickets for the whole of August, so I am hoping they might do the same again this year. They have loads of family concerts for babies, toddlers, pre-schoolers and grandparents. There really is something for everyone, with the likes of Dumbo and Mary Poppins, La La Land and Frozen, so keep an eye on their website. babybroadway.co.uk

FAVOURITE THINGS THIS MONTH

I worry a lot about the products I use in my home, especially in the children's rooms. I have come across Tincture London who sell not only the most beautiful cleaning products, but ones that really work. The All Purpose Cleaner is a must. All Purpose Cleaner, £4.99, tincturelondon.com

My niece just had her first birthday. The theme was Teddy Bear's Picnic, so I gave her this Steiff Disney Christopher Robin Gift Set with a basket of wooden cakes and sandwiches. I love presents like this because you know they'll be loved for years to come and passed down generations. Christopher Robin Gift Set, £350, steiff.com
